DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-16, 18-24, 26-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakfoor in view of Walker et al (207).

Nakfoor discloses providing an electronic ticket control system for issuing virtual tickets to public-facility patrons through virtual ticket devices where there is received virtual ticket exchange requests from a plurality of virtual ticket devices (fig 1). The exchange requests are stored in a database and analyzed to determine if any are eligible for exchange and the virtual tickets are updated with a validity check performed (col 3, lines 30-67; col 4, lines 1-6; col 5, lines 30-40) and incentives are disclosed (col 4, lines 51-57). A fee is also disclosed by Nakfoor (col 5, lines 18-20).

Since both parties of the secondary market are disclosed are customers to Nakfoor, they are therefore patrons for the purpose of claim interpretation.

Regarding claim 24, Nakfoor discloses electronically brokering the exchange of seats (as the tickets represent seat attendance/occupancy itself) of patrons at a public facility.

Nakfoor does not explicitly disclose:

sending an exchange notification message and receiving an exchange confirmation message;

an exchange of seats between patrons (where each patron receives the seat of another patron, i.e. a swap) as claim 24 is currently interpreted.

Walker et al (207) discloses sending an exchange notification message and receiving an exchange confirmation message (col 19, lines 55-60) and the use of swaps between parties (col 30, lines 30-39).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include sending an exchange notification message and receiving an exchange confirmation message because Walker et al (209) discloses legally binding steps required in transactions (col 19, lines 63-65).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include an exchange of seats between patrons because Walker et al (209) teaches a barter environment may occur in transactions between parties per se (col 30, line 31-32).

3. Claims 17, 25, and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakfoor in view of Walker et al (207) as applied to claims above, and further in view of Peters.

Nakfoor and Walker et al (207) do not disclose providing the patrons images of views from seats available for exchange or prioritizing ticket exchange requests.

Senga discloses providing the patrons images of views from seats available for exchange (para 0116) and prioritizing ticket exchange requests (para 0050).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include providing the patrons images of views from seats available for exchange because Peters teaches ticket acceptability is dependent on seating location and view ability (col 13, lines 2-3).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include prioritizing ticket exchange requests because Senga teaches priority of importance to commodities (para 0022).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 10-12-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The recitation of exchange as broadly construed includes selling.
